FOREWORD

The Chinese have a saying,—“To forget one's ancestors is to be a brook without a source, a tree without a root”.

Lest we forget our ancestry, this record has been compiled, both as a memorial to our forbears and a source of inspiration to the living.

The Chapin Family in America, taking root from Deacon Samuel Chapin, has flourished like the proverbial “green bay tree”. Deacon Samuel was a leader, a man of great influence; his children caught his spirit and evidently held fast to his ideals, transmitting them to their children and so on down through the generations.

The object of this genealogy is not only to record the data of the descendants of Deacon Samuel Chapin, but to state briefly, facts that will indicate character. It is, therefore, hopeless to attempt to gather all the family records of three centuries. But this genealogy is offered as a foundation upon which later Chapin historians may build a more complete compilation.

To all those who have supplied data for this work and have assisted with varied information, our hearty thanks are accorded.

It is our hope that every reader will not only find interest in tracing his own ancestry but will gain new visions of what the name has stood for in the past and may mean to generations yet unborn.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

It is felt by the associates of Mr. Gilbert W. Chapin as the trustees of the Chapin Genealogical Fund that this book ought not to go forth without something being said in it in appreciation of the genius and devoted labors of the man who compiled it. The work will speak for itself to the members of the family who possess it and peruse it, and we are sure that they will welcome an expression of the affection and gratitude felt for him by those most closely associated with him in its preparation.

The simple genealogical data of Mr. Chapin's life will be found in its proper place. From his youth Mr. Chapin has felt the interest in the family history and the pride in the family name which is a Chapin tradition. In the busiest part of his long and active life as a banker in Hartford he founded the Chapin Family Association, and has been its head as the president of the association from its beginning. The inspiration and the energizing force that kept it alive and made it active and useful came from him. When he retired from business it was with a feeling of satisfaction that he would have more time and strength to give to the organization and to carry out plans for a Genealogy which he had long cherished, and on which he had always and constantly been doing some work as opportunity offered.

He organized a systematic collection of genealogical and biographical data and opened correspondence with members of the family which grew to voluminous proportions. He traveled extensively and kept in physical as well as mental touch with the sources of information of which he was to make use. He has spent years in his study arranging and fitting together this material with infinite pains and skill according to the scientific system which he originated and which has been followed in the Genealogy. In later months he has worked indefatigably with printers and proof readers to make the text perfect, and to prevent as far as possible the errors which are prone to find place in a compilation of this kind.

The result is the monumental work in our hands — the material gathered with laborious and yet loving industry, conveniently arranged and handy to use — a work handsomely printed and substantially bound, practically complete as a roll of the family up to present time, entirely adequate till another generation shall come into life, and invaluable for all time as a record of the past. The Chapin family owes a debt of gratitude to Gilbert W. Chapin for his far reaching foresight, untiring activity and devotion to exhaustive detail work, which has brought his ideals of the Chapin Family Association and this Chapin Genealogy to such tangible and satisfactory shape. As we Chapins use this book, we may think of Mr. Chapin — whether in his Hartford residence or his beautiful country home in Mansfield — as enjoying the satisfaction of a great work well and faithfully done and rewarded by the satisfaction we take in it as a worthy family memorial.

NOTE—The new Oxford Dictionary published in Oxford, 1908, states in the seventeenth century, and examples are given where nephew was used as early as 1297 and as late as 1699.

The Chapin Family in England

EARLY CHAPIN DATA AS DERIVED FROM THE ENGLISH RECORDS.

Ancestors of Deacon Samuel Chapin.

Until the records given on the preceding pages were discovered, nothing was known concerning the parentage of Deacon Samuel Chapin or his wife Cicely.

From these, however, it appears that Samuel was the son of John and Phillipe (Easton) Chapin and that Cicely was the daughter of Henry and Jane Penney.

John Chapin and Phillipe Easton were married September 14, 1590.

The baptismal dates appear of SAMUEL, son of John Chapin, Oct. 8, 1598, and of CICELY, daughter of Henry Penney, Feb. 21, 1601.

Samuel Chapin and Cicely Penney were married Feb. 9, 1623.

Their son, David, was christened Jan. 4, 1624.

These facts are further confirmed by the will of Henry Penney, dated Apr. 6, 1630, in which he speaks of "Cicely Chapin, my daughter" and also mentions David Chapin, my nephew, Katherine Chapin and Sarah Chapin.

The Paignton Church record gives the date of christening of DAVID Jan. 4, 1624, evidently the oldest child. In Henry Penny's will dated Apr. 6, 1630, his daughter CICELY CHAPIN is first mentioned. DAVID the grandson was next of the family mentioned, followed by the names of KATHERINE CHAPIN, and SARAH CHAPIN.

The time of the arrival of the family in Roxbury, Mass., is supposed to be 1635, and no evidence is found to prove that date in error, and that five children came with their parents. The conclusion is that HENRY and JOSIAH were born between 1630 and 1635, and as HENRY is mentioned first, it is supposed that he was the elder of the two. JAPHET was born in Roxbury and HANNAH in Springfield, Mass.

"We are fortunate that we know the founder of our race in this country and his name has come down to us as a fixed and certain landmark in our history".

(Judge Henry Chapin, Sept. 17, 1862)

Deacon Samuel Chapin's Place in the Community

Samuel Chapin came to New England probably with his father and family in 1635 or earlier. A record at Roxbury, of early but unknown date shows that he possessed 24 acres of land there, and had eight persons in his family, himself, wife, father and five children. (The presence of his father John Chapin, at this time is in conformity with records already quoted). In 1641 he bought a house and lot of James Howe and became a freeman, which implied that he was a church member and gave him the right to vote and hold office under the Colony Government.

He was evidently an acquaintance of William Pynchon in England and a neighbor, for a short time, in Roxbury. Pynchon, in 1636, led about a dozen families westward to the Connecticut River where he founded the settlement first known as Agawam, later renamed Springfield. The Chapins apparently migrated to the new settlement during the winter of 1642-3. This change was doubtless largely due to Pynchon's influence.

William Pynchon appointed five men of standing in Springfield, called Selectmen, to watch over morals, health and public measures. Deacon Samuel was one of these. One of their most delicate duties was that of assigning the seats in the Meeting House. The place of Mrs. Cissily C. is there recorded: "Goodwife Chapin is to sitt in the Seate alonge with Mrs. Glover, and Mrs. Hollyock." Mrs. Glover was the minister's wife and therefore the leading lady, and Mrs. Hollyock was the daughter of William Pynchon. Engaged in town business and held continuously office of selectman 1644 to 1652 and again in 1661 and 1664, and later as auditor.

He is first called deacon in the records on Feb. 21, 1650. Beside the regular duties assigned to this office, he conducted the Sabbath services, including preaching, for several years when the church lacked a pastor.

In 1651 William Pynchon was convicted of heresy, by the General Court, and returned to England. His son-in-law, Henry Smith then became chief magistrate. The next year, he too returned to England and Capt. John Pynchon, Lieut. Elizur Holyoke and Samuel Chapin were by the General Court commissioned magistrates for the administration of justice, "allowing them the power of a County Court." He held the office until 1664, and in addition performed important duties, laying out land grants and the plantations that became Northampton and Hadley.

His first home lot was at the corner of the present Main and Pynchon Streets, but by 1664 he appears to have been living in Chicopee, with his son Japhet. His holdings in Springfield were large, but he gave all to his sons in his life time, reserving a life interest for himself and wife, his will disposing of personal estate only.

In October, 1675 Springfield was attacked by Indians and burned. Deacon Chapin did not see the town rebuilt, for in about a month as wrote his son Japhet, "My father was taken out of this troublous world the 11 day of November about eleven of the clock in the eve, 1675."

Deacon Samuel Chapin "conscientiously and wisely discharged important trusts for the maintenance of religion and good order and left an abiding impress of his character and life on the city."

To judge from the private and official acts of the man, and from the firm hand he wrote, he was a man of some education, strong will, inflexible integrity, abundant charity and real piety.

See Life of Deacon Samuel Chapin of Springfield, by Howard Millar Chapin, Providence, R. I., 1908, the fullest account, based upon original documents and records.

“Three centuries ago the Pilgrims of the Mayflower made landing at Plymouth Rock. They came undecked with honors of nobility. They were not children of fortune but of tribulation. Persecution, not preference brought them hither. Measured by the standards of men of their time they were the humble of the earth. Measured by their later accomplishments they were the mighty. No captain ever led his forces to such a conquest. Oblivious to rank, yet men trace to them their lineage as to a royal house.”

Governor Calvin Coolidge at Plymouth.

Another has said, “Ideals are worth more than all possession, and the Pilgrims, who were idealists, thus will never die.” We are blest by the ideals of our ancestors, the Puritans who came hither soon after the Mayflower and did their full share with the Pilgrims in establishing our American Republic.

“Most of the monumental statues set up in our land are in honor of men distinguished for military exploits.” “Equally deserving, perhaps equally influential, though less prominent, is another class of men who are apt to be overlooked. Lacking the brilliancy of special genius and the opportunity and the call for heroic action, they, within the ordinary sphere of human life, attained eminence by doing judiciously and with energy those common things which are essential to the stability of human society and give cast to the character and institutions of a rising commonwealth.”

Rev. A. L. Chapin, D. D. at the unveiling of the Chapin Monument at Springfield in 1887, by Augustus St. Gaudens, the gift of Chester W. Chapin to Springfield.

“To preserve the memory of our ancestors is one of the marks of a high state of civilization.”

“Among enlightened people if a child is born a record is made of it. A man dies, the fact is set down with day and date in a public register. In this way men may trace the history of families and individuals. Among barbarians no such records are kept. Hence too, among all enlightened people, monuments are reared and the chisel of the sculptor and the palette of the painter are put into requisition to hand down to posterity the form and features of the departed.”

Charles Eagan Chapin.

“Happy he, who with bright regard looks back upon his father’s fathers, who with joy recounts their deeds of grace, and in himself, values the latest link in the fair chain of noble sequence.”

Goethe.

“Remember the days of old, the years of many generations: ask thy father and he will shew thee: thy elders and they will tell thee.”

Deut. 32:7.

“Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.”

Longfellow.

*An Explanation of the System Used in
This Compilation of Chapin Data*

Of the many ways in which genealogical facts may be arranged, the numerical method seems to have outstanding advantages and is employed in this Chapin Book.

Since it starts with Dea. Samuel Chapin, he has been assigned the number: 1. His children are numbered consecutively 1-1, 1-2, 1-3, etc. The descendants of each of these are numbered 1-1-1, 1-1-2, 1-1-3; 1-2-1, 1-2-2, 1-2-3; 1-3-1, 1-3-2, 1-3-3; etc. In this way, each individual's ancestry may be traced back numerically generation by generation to Dea. Samuel himself.

In known intermarriages of descendants the supplemental line is also given.

Adopted children (not of kindred blood) are omitted in later generation.

The Chapin head of each family appears first (with names of parents for identification), then the facts of birth, marriage and death; followed by the list of children (arranged chronologically as far as possible). An asterisk (*) beside the name of a child indicates that the name is carried forward to the next generation, becoming in turn the head of a family. The names of unmarried children, however, appear but once.

No pains have been spared in striving for accuracy, but the handicaps have been many. Frequent variation of dates are found in original records (church records usually give dates of baptism, marriage and burial, whereas public records give dates of birth, publishment, marriage and death). Cemetery records are often incorrect or indistinct. Then too, the "old style" of dates was in vogue until 1752. All of which conditions have made this work difficult, even at times vexatious. The lineal numbering of intermarriage it is believed will be appreciated.

"To err is human; to forgive, divine."

“ The Puritan ”

By St. Gaudens

St. Gaudens' statue, in figure and costume is intended as an ideal of Dea. Samuel Chapin as given by tradition current among his descendants for there is of his face and features no oral or written record in existence.

A striking physiognomy typifying that grand race who “ feared God and kept their powder dry.”

The above order of the children (which is the basis of the line numbering in this genealogy) is that given in the Orange Chapin Genealogy of 1862.

“The beginning of the Chapin family is altogether creditable. We may well be satisfied that it should start with this genuine old Puritan (Deacon Samuel Chapin) and what he did, with his fellow pioneers, to open the American Continent and on it to found a city and to establish a model Christian Republic”.

“The rolls of heraldry, even if they could show the name linked with royal or princely blood, would add nothing to the true nobility of its origin. It belongs peculiarly to this country, and the sphere of its highest dignity and honor was no doubt ordained to be here. Our chief anxiety should be to maintain and advance its true nobility by lives and deeds worthy of such a father”.

Josiah Chapin, second son of Deacon Samuel, was born in England in 1634, but must have come to this country very young. If he came with his father, in 1636, he would have been only about two years old. He is recorded in Springfield as having taken the oath of fidelity on March 23, 1656. He was a young man when he settled in Weymouth, Mass. He afterwards removed to Braintree. In Weymouth he made his first marriage and there his first son, Samuel, was born. In Braintree he made two subsequent marriages and had 13 children. His father transferred to him lands in Mendon, Mass., which had been conferred upon Deacon Samuel by the Massachusetts colony for services rendered. Josiah removed to Mendon between 1680 and 1682, and spent the rest of his long life there, being one of the leading citizens of the town. He was Selectman for many years, for 11 years chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Justice of the Peace by commission said to have come from the British Parliament, and in 1689 was the first elected representative to the General Court. The tax lists of Mendon show that for successive years he was the largest taxpayer in the place. He held many other offices and in 1720, when he was 86 years old, he was again chosen representative. He was for half a century Mendon's first citizen, and died September 10, 1726, aged 92 years, having outlived his three wives, and leaving a large family of children, from whom has come one of the largest and strongest branches of the Chapin family.

Samuel Chapin resided at the upper end of what is now Chicopee Street on west side of street and near the residence of his father, Japhet. The same place was afterward owned and occupied by his son Elisha and after he was killed by Indians at Hoosac, now Williamstown, it went into the hands of Abel, son of Thomas and father of Jemima, afterwards to Ephraim, son of Benjamin who married Jemima, and afterwards to his son Frederick who owned and occupied it in 1842.

This place it would appear from record and tradition was first owned and occupied as part of the farm of Japhet, next by his son Samuel, next owned and occupied by son Elisha, next owned (but not occupied) by Abel, son of Thomas, next owned and occupied by Ephraim and next by his son Frederick. Samuel set out two pear trees on this place that bore fruit for the first time in the year he died, 1729. One of these trees is still living and never failed to bear fruit except one year up to 1834.

Hannah Chapin, "the plucky daughter of Japhet," m. Dec 3, 1703 John Sheldon who built at Deerfield the Old Indian House which is still an object of interest at Deerfield. In 1704 during the attack on Deerfield while the enemy were cutting through the door of the house, John and Hannah jumped from the second-story window. In making the jump she sprained her ankle. Notwithstanding her injury she urged her husband to leave her and hasten to Hatfield to give the alarm. He, being barefoot, as he ran tore strips from a blanket and bound them on his feet to keep them from freezing while on the way to Hatfield.

Hannah was taken prisoner to Canada and was there two years. She was redeemed by her father-in-law, John Sheldon. Esther Williams, daughter of Parson Williams was redeemed at the same time. Mr. Adams, also a captive in Canada, writes that he was surprised that Hannah escaped death, so great were her sufferings on the march to Canada.

* 1 Jonathan b. July 8, 1711. d. July 3, 1780.

There has been great difficulty in identifying Jonathan Chapin who married Elizabeth Burt. He was concerned in the Land Bank Scheme of 1740, though already living in King's Field, as Palmer was then called. The Land Bank was almost exclusively an Eastern Massachusetts enterprise, and the only other Chapins concerned in it were known to be of eastern families, rather than from the Connecticut Valley. Exhaustive study has been made of all possible Jonathans in this district; also careful study of Land Bank records, deeds, etc., and by a process of elimination we arrive at the theory that Jonathan, son of David and Lydia (Crump) Chapin is our best guess, but absolute proof is impossible.

In 1916 a 13-ton boulder was set up to mark the site of Fort Hoosac and the defenders of it. It bears a bronze tablet with an inscription in which the name of Capt. Chapin was mentioned with the other defenders. Prof. Perry of Williams College, in his "Origins in Williamstown" says of Capt. Elisha: "Chapin was brave, courteous and obedient to his military superiors and loyal to the service as he conceived of its objects and interests."

Mr. Chapin was insane during a portion of his life and possessed of some singular ideas—one was, he supposed that he owned nearly or quite all of the fine plains lying east of the valley Chicopee St. He made a practice of measuring his land by pacing it, that is counting five paces for one rod and he supposed himself so accurate in his measures that he used to remark that he could pace it out to the forty-ninth part of a horse hair. The remark was often made when a person was very particular “you are as exact or as particular as Uncle Isaac.”

Ephraim Chapin was captain of a company in the French and Indian War, was at Ticonderoga in 1777 and was captain of a company in Col. Ruggles Woodbridge's regiment in 1778. His wife, Jemima, also a Chapin, showed her valor in Shays's Rebellion. She had gone from Chicopee to Springfield in her 2-wheeled chaise, fording the Chicopee river at the point where it crosses Chicopee street by the present railroad. Returning, she encountered a portion of Shays's army, who filled the road. It is said that she rose from her seat and demanded a passage. The men parted to right and left and gave her the road. Some of these men said that Springfield would be in ashes before night. One came to Dorcas (Jemima's daughter-in-law, and herself a Chapin, before marrying Abel), after they had been beaten, and said: "Dorkiss, hide me." "Hide yourself," was the reply.

Capt. Chapin was a very active man—probably spent his youth in Springfield or Chicopee. After selling his land he enlisted June 1, 1752 for the French and Indian War. He continued in the service with occasional short furloughs until Jan. 16, 1760 when he resigned as captain and commander. His services were important and interesting. He returned to Chicopee and soon removed to Rowe, Mass. Although 50 years of age he fought in Revolutionary War in short campaigns from Apr. 2, 1775 until Oct. 29, 1779. After the war he joined his son Capt. Samuel and Gen'l Walbridge at Bennington and in 1789 moved to Burlington, Otsego Co., N. Y. Their lands were between Burlington Flats and Burlington Green.

The War reports and correspondence in the government archives show that many jealousies and strifes between the higher officers during the whole war Capt. Gad Chapin was the one man in whom all invariably had confidence. He held commission from King George 3d.

Ens. Moses Chapin was taken prisoner with Maj. Rogers, at Lake George, Jan. 1757. He obtained some knowledge of the Latin language previous to entering the army. While detained as a prisoner, he became acquainted with a priest (probably Catholic) who would converse with him in Latin but no other language. He fared for a time rather hardly, and made known his situation to this priest, after which he fared better. His Latin books were in the possession of his grandson, Titus Chapin. His surveying instruments, and his "Love's Surveying," printed in London, 1760, are in the possession of the compiler. Chapin Genealogy 1862.

He was a skillful physician and a rival of Dr. Cyrenius Chapin 1-1-1-5-5-5 with whom he had many wordy battles.

These two Chapins helped to establish medical practice on the Niagara frontier on a sounder and more scientific basis. Dr. Daniel Chapin died in 1821 at sixty, his death due to exposure in visiting a patient.

- † 3 Amzi Philander studied law and, probably about 1820, started on horseback from Kentucky for Richmond, Virginia, where he intended to practice his profession. His family never heard of him again, and it was supposed that he was murdered while crossing the Allegheny Mountains. He was an exemplary and talented young man.

Lucius Chapin served in the armies of the Revolution almost steadily for five years. He was a fifer. He was at the siege of Boston in 1775; at Ticonderoga in 1776; in the army opposing the advance of Burgoyne from Canada, and in the two battles of Stillwater in 1777; and at the surrender at Saratoga October 17, 1777. He was at Valley Forge with Washington in the winter of 1777-78; at the battle of Monmouth, June 20, 1778, and afterward served with Gen. Sullivan at Newport in 1778, returning for further service on the Hudson in 1779. He was discharged in February, 1780. He settled in Mason County, Kentucky, and afterwards went to Ohio. Few men in our family saw longer or more varied service in the struggle for American liberty than he. His wife, Susan Rezeau (Rousseau), was 13 years old when the British landed on Staten Island and the county seat of Richmond, her home, was captured and invested by them.

From Connecticut Benjamin Chapin emigrated to Virginia before the Revolution, becoming one of the twenty-two surgeons of the Virginia State Navy. After he died in service his heirs were entitled to a grant of 6000 acres of land. They delayed, however, fourteen years after his death before making their claim, which was disallowed. Descendants of Benjamin Chapin can claim through his wife, Margaret Colton, a doubly distinguished ancestry, as Margaret's mother, the wife of Benjamin Colton was Elizabeth Pynchon, great great granddaughter of Col. William Pynchon, who with Deacon Samuel Chapin founded Springfield, and whose ancestry has been traced back to William the Conqueror.

Gen'l Israel Chapin was Rev. Soldier & Indian Agent under Washington. A most illustrious man.

General Chapin played an important part in the early history of Western New York. He had served as captain of the Hatfield Militia at Boston and Lexington, as major in the expedition to Saratoga, as colonel of the Second Regiment of Hampshire County Militia and finally after the Campaign against Quebec as Brigadier General. The return of peace brought him fresh activities, for as a member of the party consummating the famous Phelps and Gorham purchase in 1789, he joined the settlement at the foot of Lake Canandaigua. He was chosen by Secretary of War Knox as go-between to the difficult Six Nations. He became both the protector of the white settlers from Indian depredations and the protector of the Red Man against white injustice.

The story of his dealings with his savage charges, his adroitness, his honorable and just diplomacy makes a fair page in the otherwise dark history of American relations with the Indian.

Y. and in 1803 to Erie Co. and purchased one of the first town lots in the future village of Buffalo. He was prominent in medical societies, town affairs and in agricultural matters. In the War of 1812 he organized a company, became lieutenant-colonel, was captured and taken to Canada in the Fall of 1813 with his entire command, but turned the tables, imprisoning his captors. He defended Buffalo from the British when it was burned Dec. 1813, until the women and children could escape. He was imprisoned nine months. He died in Buffalo and was buried with military honors.

Dr. Joseph Alvord, a cripple, was a practising physician on the Niagara frontier during the War of 1812. In 1813 when the alarm of the British and Indian raid reached the family, Dr. Alvord helped his wife to escape with her four children, the smallest a babe in arms, then mounted to follow them. He was pursued by Indians, however, shot down from his horse and literally hewed to death with their tomahawks. His home was burned. When the war was over his widow rebuilt the house and contrived, tho impoverished, to bring up her family at Lewiston.

Thaddeus Alvord went with his parents to Western New York about 1790 settling near Lockport. He enlisted in the War of 1812, being detailed to get out timber for boats used by General Scott in crossing to Canada. He removed to Waterford, Michigan, but in 1828 revisited his old home where he met his third wife who led him to join the Latter Day Saints, in 1834. After circuitous migrations thro Michigan, Missouri, Illinois and Iowa, he landed in Utah in 1849 and lived for twenty years in Salt Lake City. In 1866 he moved to North Ogden, Utah, where he died. Though he had several wives, he appears to have had them one at a time.

When Mr. Chapin settled in Rochester in 1816, the population was but 600. There was no church edifice there, and he at once set about raising funds for one. He superintended its erection and for twenty years was a ruling elder.

He was a notable lawyer, the father of the Bar of Monroe County and its oldest member when he died. As a judge, he carried to the bench high ideals of integrity and justice.

His life story is part and parcel of the history of Rochester. The mainspring of his life was religious devotion which was reflected not only in personal life but also in his legal and judicial career.

All his life he was a student of American Missions in the foreign field. His eldest daughter married a missionary, one son became a Presbyterian minister and two of his daughters married clergymen.

He made a fortune there and in 1889 started to give it away under the wise guidance of his wife. Their benefactions included gifts to forty-seven colleges in twenty-four states, and totalled over $5,000,000. Both Mr. Chapin and his wife were liberal in their public and private benefactions. It was for him that St. Gaudens made the famous statue of "The Puritan" as a memorial to Samuel Chapin, donated to the city of Springfield. Chester Williams Chapin was a forceful character and one of the ablest executive minds of his generation. He lived all his life in Springfield, but had far reaching business connections. He was for many years president of the Boston & Albany railroad, a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1853 and was Mass. Representative in 44th Congress, 1874. Mr. Chapin of Chicopee Street (then part of Springfield) has the glory of having invented that small but potent blessing of mankind—the sulphur-match, a bit of wood tipped with a latent flame, which put the tinder-box out of business forever. It was in 1834 and quite by accident, Mr. Chapin discovered that white sulphur dried on the end of a stick would strike fire if scratched on something hard. He set up a little business with his brother, Bryant, the father, Frederick Chapin, financing the venture. The first matches were made in a one-story brick building with a loft. Later on Alonzo Phillips of East Hartford came into the business and the firm became Chapin & Phillips. All through New England the matches were sold, carried by two one-horse wagons. It is said that on a single trip to Providence and Newport, Bryant Chapin, who drove a wagon, cleared $700. No patent was taken out, and although the Chapins made money from the discovery, it was open to all. Mr. Chapin was killed by fall.

Noah Webster 1-3-9-6-2-4, was one of Dea. Samuel's most noted descendants. A fiery patriot,—his dictionary and speller were part and parcel of the Revolution. For they were both propaganda of colonial Americanism, aiming to provide a federal catechism as well as to supplant British spelling and speech.

He graduated from Yale in 1778; taught in Hartford and was admitted to the bar in 1781. He lived for a time with Chief Justice Oliver Ellsworth, whose son, Governor Ellsworth, later married Webster's daughter.

Webster was an ardent champion of Washington, establishing a New York daily paper, "The Minerva," in support of the administration. He held wise views on slavery and, had he had his way, emancipation would have begun in the 18th century. Writing prolifically on political subjects, he published in 1784/5 a pamphlet containing the first proposal ever printed of the Constitution. He also presented the first draft of our copyright laws.

Not content with his dictionary, he attempted single-handed to revise the King James' version of the Bible,—a fact that speaks louder for his self-reliance than for his discretion.

In 1812 he went to live in Amherst, Mass., where he assisted in founding Amherst Academy from which developed the present College.

† 4	m. ———	Guild in West Pawlet, Vt.

† 1 David, Jr. The record of family is impossible to find, but it is said he was born about 1800 and died 1867 in Michigan or Wisconsin. We haven't the date of marriage of his parents and it is assumed that he was the oldest child, and possibly a twin of Samuel. The date of death of Martha Cook Chapin was supposed to have been Aug. 21, 1817, Chicopee, but record in Rowe, Mass. is July 27, 1818. Her daughter Cynthia is said to have died soon after her mother, but the record of her death 1817 is doubted. This record of the family should be carefully scrutinized and not taken authoritatively.

Martha Cook Chapin father's name was Samuel Cook, born in Connecticut Aug. 18, 1746, a Revolutionary soldier, died Sept. 1, 1824, and is buried at South Hartford, N. Y. He was three years in Captain Warner's Company of the Connecticut Troops. His Powder Horn has engraved on it: Samuel Cook, East Hoosic, Jan. the 7th, A.D. 1778. In Col. Samuel Wyllys Foundation of 1778-1781, he was promoted to Corporal and afterward Sergeant and discharged June 1, 1781.

C. In the Lexington Alarm of 1775 Adams shouldered a musket. He was for thirty years Justice of the Peace, and died at 82 in partial mental eclipse brought on by the death of his wife.

Mr. Chapin, although born in Leyden, Mass., was taken as a year-old child to the Western Reserve. In 1836 he moved to Edwardsburg, Mich. and a few years later to Niles, Mich., then an outpost of civilization. He became a storekeeper until the outbreak of the Civil War, when he failed. At the age of fifty he made a fresh start in the real estate and insurance field. Nearly twenty years later the discovery of rich iron deposits in land purchased many years before proved very profitable to him.

For thirty years he was an Elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Niles and his memory is perpetuated by the splendid memorial building erected there by direction of the will of his son Charles A. Chapin.

- † 3 Henry Wyllys Taylor was a business man with the soul of a poet. He was employed in his uncle's bank in Hartford and was later the secretary of the first elevated railroad in America, the ill-starred old "One-legged road" in New York, which spelled ruin to its promoters, yet demonstrated the practicability of elevated roads. So much for his business life. The published volume of his verse, travel sketches and letters, reveals a nature of great sensibility to beauty in art, in nature, and in life, great refinement of spirit and · rare purity of heart. He was a lover of the Bible and an eager doer of the word, both in conventional ways, like Sunday-school and church work, and in less conspicuous ministrations to convicts in prison or to lonely foreigners with whom he took pleasure in talking in their own tongues, for he was an excellent linguist. A modest man and a Chapin to be proud of.

Hon. Jabez Terry Taylor was several times member of N. Y. State Legislature, 1836/42, having moved 1817 to Mendon, where Taylor Street was named in his honor.

Mary Williams (Chapin) Pease, close friend and confidante of Mary Lyon, her successor as principal of Mount Holyoke Seminary, and for fifteen years the loyal unfold of Miss Lyon's educational plans, is one of the bright particular stars in the Chapin firmament. When, at sixteen, little Mary Chapin, of Somers, applied for admission to Mount Holyoke, she had to climb a ladder to reach Miss Lyon who, attired in a red cloak and green calash, stood among the shavings and débris of the unfinished building to receive her. Neither guessed the significance of the meeting. While still a pupil she was chosen as Miss Lyon's assistant and for a time shared her bedchamber, learning the inmost thoughts of the pioneer and all her hopes for Mount Holyoke. After her graduation, in 1843, she returned to teach, and six years later, when death took her beloved leader, Miss Chapin reluctantly undertook to carry on her work. Her executive ability, economy, resourcefulness and courage carried the Seminary through the shock of Miss Lyon's death and the difficult period of the Civil war. She had no thought for her own renown, being one of those rare souls who are content to work out of sight, letting who will take the credit, so that results are assured. Thanks to her quiet resistance to all schemes for vital change, she fixed upon Mount Holyoke the character Miss Lyon had given it, sure of the greatness and beneficence of the founder's design. Miss Chapin was profoundly religious and her real spiritual earnestness was deeply stamped upon the Seminary. Many students entered the mission field. In 1859 Miss Chapin proposed a reunion of Mount Holyoke missionaries then in the country, with their families, and the gathering numbered more than one hundred souls.

Her marriage with Mr. Pease when she was forty-five removed Miss Chapin from Mount Holyoke but did not terminate her connection with the Seminary. For years she had been president of the Memorandum Society, founded by Miss Lyon to record the personal history of Mount Holyoke graduates and students. Now she took up the work of secretary, tracing for the catalogue of 1877 2,341 students and mightily helping with the great half-century issue of 1889 which recorded the achievements of 6,800 girls. It required not only patience but largeness of heart sufficient to take into her warm interest every daughter of Mount Holyoke. Single-hearted, benignant, self-forgetful, strong of soul and strong of influence she has her place among the little group of noble American women-pioneers beside her idolized Mary Lyon.

Chapin Hall is a memorial of her.

Calvin N. Chapin known as "The Angel of the American Board" and in the library of the Congregational House as "Uncle Calvin", retired from active service in 1908 at fifty-three years uninterrupted work. Thousands who had business with the Board recall the venerable figure which so long occupied the desk by the door, seeming to give an almost apostolic dignity to the rooms. His service, beginning in 1853, spanned more than half the history of the American Board, and his memory was a treasure-house of anecdotes of missionaries, past and present. It has been said of Calvin Chapin that his prayers at the little noontide service of the Board seemed his crowning contribution to the missionary cause, and that "his petitions at the throne of grace have brought this world nearer to God."

† 3 m. graduated Wellesley College, 1898. Teacher Monroe, Mich., and

George F. Chapin was brought into the church in a great revival at the age of fifteen, and at once chose the ministry as his life work. He graduated from Kimball University in 1856, Amherst College in 1860 and Union Theological Seminary in 1863. After twelve years of study and preparation he served in pastorates in Lawrence and Irving, Kan., and in Alstead and Langdon, N. H. His own testimony shows that he was right in his choice. He says: "It has been a joy to me to preach the Gospel, and to live the Gospel also. For fifty-six years I have been in the harness. If I could live my life over again, I would eagerly choose the ministry as my work in life."

He resigned his pastorage of 38 years in Saxton's River, Vermont, at age 85, and is now (1923) living in Monroe, Mich.

Six months after her husband, Josiah Bushnell Grinnell, with three other kindred spirits, first pitched tent at the spot later becoming Grinnell, Iowa, she joined him in his rough-hewn log cabin. Together they labored to establish a colony "where church and school should be paramount." A student of Mary Lyon, she was as much an enthusiast for education as her husband. Together they persuaded Iowa College, then five years old, to transfer from its site at Davenport to the new settlement. She maintained the Julia Chapin Grinnell Scholarship and perpetuated it in her will. She was a charter member of the Congregational Church and one of the founders of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. For many years she edited a column in "Congregational Iowa." Each year she prepared a necrology of the old settlers. She seems to have been everybody's friend; at her silver wedding no less than a thousand people, uninvited, came to offer her their loving wishes. Throughout her whole life she shed abroad "as silent as the sunshine" a unifying, harmonizing, uplifting influence that can scarcely be overestimated.

Charles Chapin was for many years a prominent Mason of Alexandria, Va., although after his marriage he moved to Lexington. An original portrait of him is owned by his grandson, William T. Chapin of Newport News. When his sister the beautiful Juliana was widowed at 17 (her husband Col. Robert McPherson dying in Madagascar) Charles journeyed out to bring the young widow home, buying for his wife on the way a set of pearls and a ring. The ring and a single pearl ornament survived the Civil War, and are in possession of James Herndon Lightfoot of Tacoma Park, Washington, D. C. Another memento of Charles Chapin treasured in the family is of interest to all Chapins. On his watch guard Charles also wore a seal bearing the Chapin arms—a griffin on a shield of gold, surmounted by a stag's head. During the Civil War the seal disappeared. One day an army officer riding near Culpeper, Va. saw something shining in the mud. Picking it up he discovered that it was the Chapin Arms, despoiled of the gold setting. The name Chapin was engraved on it and knowing that Mrs. Lightfoot's maiden name was Chapin, he restored it to her. It has not been possible to prove the authenticity of these Chapin Arms, but some descendants may yet succeed in doing so.

Chester W. Chapin was a man of manifold abilities and accomplishments. Educated in both America and Europe, he was a linguist, student and art connoisseur.

His business abilities, like his father's, were directed largely in the promotion of transportation companies; he was President of the New York & New Haven Steamship Co. and one of the organizers of the Central New England Railroad.

In addition to business he had many varied interests. He was a fine horseman, a champion rifle and revolver shot and a big game hunter. He was a yachtsman and a licensed navigator; his yacht, "Yampa," under his personal command, established a sailing record between New York and Cadiz, Spain, that is still unbroken.

Of many benefactions, his most notable gift was the St. Gaudens statue of Dea. Samuel Chapin ("The Puritan"), which he gave to the city of Springfield (Mass.). He was a liberal contributor, also, to the Chapin Memorial Hospital in the same city.

He is buried, with his father and mother, in the mausoleum which he had Tiffany build in the old cemetery on Chicopee Street (Mass.) not far from the house where Col. Abel Chapin lived in Revolutionary times.

First four born in Fairfield, Conn. Next three, Pittsfield, Mass. Last two in Amherst.

Dr. Heman Humphrey, for twenty-two years President of Amherst College, won his own education at the hardest. The son of a farmer, with no early schooling, he pored over the few books he could get his hands on by the flare of a pine-knot or the light of the kitchen fire. He studied in the furrow when the oxen were baiting at the "noonspell," using the cart for shade, the "hind-board" for a desk. At 16 he taught his first district school. Between farming and teaching, and studying on his own account he managed to get into Yale, where he worked his way, tutoring, serving as librarian and writing for the New Haven papers, winning his degree in 1805. At twenty he was converted in a revival and determined to preach. After a few months' study with Rev. Asahel Hooke, at Goshen, he got his license and set out on horseback to seek his church. He found it at Fairfield. He remained there eleven years until his growing family could no more live on $600. Then he went to Pittsfield where he remained for fifteen years, leaving only to become President of Amherst College. Amherst was in a rudimentary stage. The jealousy of Yale and Harvard authorities, who did not want a third college in New England, blocked for a time the winning of a charter. Dr. Humphrey carried the college through the formative period, leaving on it the stamp of his own character. After twenty-two years' service he retired in 1845 and went to spend his old age in Pittsfield where he became the veritable patriarch of the town.

Dr. Humphrey's addresses to the students were many of them models of robust, earnest English, delivered with the fire of a born orator. The sweep of his sentences was like that of an arm which could reap an acre a day in the hayfield. Some of the more notable addresses were upon the Violation of Indian Rights, upon Slavery, and in 1854 upon the infamous Missouri Compromise. Just as the Civil War was breaking he preached his last sermon upon a day of national fasting and prayer, and shortly after died. His work for education was important, but his moral grandeur had quite as much to do with making him a power in his generation.

Rattlesnakes were plenty a century ago in Walpole. Mr. Chapin lived near the mountain and frequently encountered and killed them. Cutting off the heads he would bury them on account of the poison, take the body home and try out the oil, valuable in the market for medicinal purposes. The skin and rattles were preserved as curiosities, many still being treasured by the descendants.
